Please join us for the Ground System Architectures Workshop 2009

GSAW's 2009 Theme
"Focusing on the User"

We're already planning the 13th annual workshop. As the technology challenges and complexities of ground systems increase, so does the need for this unique international forum. GSAW2009 will bring together government and civilian spacecraft ground system users, developers, and researchers to share their experiences through presentations, tutorials, working groups, panel discussions and a classified session.

Don't miss GSAW2009!
